You shall, unless you have been convicted of a new offense, be given a preliminary interview by an official designated by a Regional Commissioner to determine if there is probable cause to believe that you have violated the conditions of your release, and if so, whether to release you or hold you for a revocation hearing.

At your preliminary interview and any subsequent revocation hearing you may present documentary evidence and voluntary witnesses on your behalf, and, if you deny the charge(s) against you, you may request the presence of those persons who have given information upon which the charges are based. Such witnesses will be made available for questioning unless good cause is found for their non-appearance.

You may be represented by an attorney or other representative of your choice, or, if you are unable to pay for counsel, an attorney will be provided by the U. S. District Court if you fill out and promptly return a Form CJA-22 to a U. S. Probation Officer.

If, after a revocation hearing, you are found to have violated the conditions of your release the Commission may:
(1) restore you to supervision, and, if appropriate, (a) reprimand you; (b) modify your conditions of supervision; or
(c) refer you to a residential community treatment center for the remainder of your sentence; or (2) revoke your parole or mandatory release, in which case the Commission will also decide when to consider you for further release.

RE: ANTHONY MIRRA

New York establish and maintain contact with the U. S. Marshal and Probation Officer for any information which would be of assistance in this investigation.

A review of subject's Identification record reflects that a copy of subject's record (ident) was furnished to the SAC, Los Angeles, on 12/29/77. Los Angeles review your indices and furnish any pertinent information to the office of origin.

Atlanta review subject's prison file at the U. S. Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, for pertinent data.

Results of review of Bureau indices, if pertinent, will be furnished at a later date.

Two copies of warrant application enclosed for each office.
